Ideally – you would want to have it done and printed somehow this afternoon – before you hit the road to New Mexico. However, it can also be waiting for her when she arrives – with David having already printed it.

Does this email need to be printed for her? I already printed the NM brief David provided. Does it make more sense for me to have David incorporate this info into his brief and then have it printed for her later today, or should I just give her the briefing with the additional email attached?

In New Mexico – EPA is only providing water for livestock. We assumed that responsibility from San Juan County on Monday, Aug 10 using our emergency response contractor. We have issued a $500,000 work assignment to the contractor and completed 4 distributions on Tuesday, Aug 11.

David,

Could you expand on the provision of water to the public and for other purposes? The Administrator would like to have a good grasp of the services we are providing to the residents and tribes (Navajo) in New Mexico. Even some facts as to when we started providing water, etc.

Thanks.
